

Lanarca brings a wide range of innovative and effective working methods to our project co-ordination roles to ensure that strong links are developed and sustained within our project teams.

We provide a single, efficient point of contact and liaison for the client and multi-disciplinary professional team members, enabling consistent successful delivery of projects. Lanarca brings an objective perspective and neutral stand point and acts to balance the needs of the project team whilst ensuring the delivery of the client's aspirations upon completion of the project.

Our fully integrated approach includes many areas outside the traditional scope of project co-ordination, encompassing the following key responsibilities:

- Liaison with the client to determine the precise nature of support required, including throughout the project duration, creating opportunities to accommodate changes
- Full support in the selection and appointment of project team members and service providers required for the project
- Assistance to the client to ensure the project is fully financed (including the preparation of further funding applications or reports for Board approvals if necessary)
- Management of the project team including fee agreements, negotiations, scope of work and resolution of conflicts if necessary
- Liaison with legal, financial and other specialist service providers acting as the clients
- Complete support to the client throughout to ensure the project's success
